

Potential Financial Aid for 2019 Halloween Storm Damages to Private Property

For individuals who suffered damages to their private property from the Halloween storm last year, there may be some financial aid available through the VT Disaster Recovery Fund. To help with this process, the Vermont Voluntary Organization Active in Disasters (VT VOAD) has case managers that have been making phone calls to those who reported damage to Vermont 211. If you were one of the people whose property suffered damages in the Halloween storm, and you would like to be considered for this financial aid, you need to report your damages to Vermont 211, if you haven't already, and make sure that you say "Yes" when they ask you if you would like a call back. If you have already repaired all damages, then, unfortunately, this would not apply to you, as there is no financial reimbursement available.
